Pierre is one of Dubai's most-loved house DJs and recently the jetsetting music maestro released his fifth compilation album. OK! Middle East catches up with the 42-year-old Persian...

Tell us about your new album, Soul Liberation...

It's part of the KaRavan series. CD1 is more soulful while CD2 is more dark and progressive. I am very passionate about my music which is mostly based on my visions.

You do meditation and visit India regularly to see your spiritual guide...

That's right. Even though I'm not with him physically I see him seven days a week, because our spiritual connection is so strong.

How do you maintain your buff body?

By doing anything from martial arts to weight-lifting.

What do you do on your days off?

I haven't had a day off for the last 17 years!

We heard you recently got engaged. Who's the lucky lady?

Wow...good news spreads fast! I'm engaged to a beautiful soul from Galway in Ireland. She teaches meditation and has a big heart full of love.

How did you two meet?

As part of a divine plan, I guess!

Does she get on well with your eight-year-old daughter Alisha?

They will definitely be close – I'm not worried about that at all. Nature will take its course and everything will fall into place.

Have you set a wedding date?

We are planning three events to mark the occasion and the first one will take place in India sometime soon.

What inspires you in life?

Love – it remains the driving force which can enable you to move mountains and love also takes you to the final destination of your existence.

What are your future plans?

I'm going to continue working on new music and remixes. I'm also now a nightclub consultant and during the day I'm still involved in marketing cosmetics and fragrances.

What's your favourite fragrance at the moment?

I love Voyage d'Hermes – it's a new unisex scent which is gorgeously woody and fresh. OK!
